Google Chrome Notification Settings

The screenshot shows the Chrome Settings page for notifications. The browser's address bar displays 'chrome://settings/content/notifications'. The left sidebar contains various settings categories, with 'Privacy and security' selected. The main content area is titled 'Settings' and includes a search bar. Below the search bar, there are sections for 'Default behaviour' and 'Customised behaviours'. The 'Default behaviour' section has three radio button options: 'Sites can ask to send notifications' (selected), 'Use quieter messaging', and 'Don't allow sites to send notifications'. The 'Customised behaviours' section is divided into 'Not allowed to send notifications' and 'Allowed to send notifications'. The 'Not allowed' list is currently empty. The 'Allowed' list contains three entries: 'https://blog.checkpoint.com:443', 'https://qanatn.com:443', and 'https://www.reddit.com:443'. Each entry has a right-pointing arrow and a vertical ellipsis menu icon.

About Chrome

Sites usually send notifications to let you know about breaking news or chat messages

Default behaviour

Sites automatically follow this setting when you visit them

Sites can ask to send notifications

Use quieter messaging
Sites are blocked from interrupting you when they ask to send notifications

Don't allow sites to send notifications
Features that need notifications won't work

Customised behaviours

Sites listed below follow a custom setting instead of the default

Google Chrome Location Pop-Up

Google Chrome Location Settings

The image illustrates the process of navigating to Chrome's location settings. It is divided into four main sections:

- Chrome Menu: Shows the 'Settings' option highlighted in yellow. A black arrow points from this menu to the Chrome Settings page.
- Chrome Settings: Shows the 'Privacy and security' section selected in the left sidebar. A black arrow points from this section to the 'Location' settings page.
- Location Settings: Shows the 'Location' settings page with the 'Default behaviour' set to 'Sites can ask for your location' (indicated by a yellow highlight and a black arrow).
- Site Permissions: Shows a list of site permissions under the 'Location' category. One site, 'https://www.google.com:443', is listed as 'Allowed to see your location' with a yellow highlight and a black arrow.

Viewing Installed Chrome Extensions

The image shows a composite of two Chrome browser interface elements. On the left is the 'Settings' page, with the 'Extensions' option highlighted in yellow in the left-hand menu. On the right is the 'Extensions' management page, which features a search bar at the top right and a list of installed extensions. The first extension shown is 'Google Docs Offline', which includes a description and two buttons: 'Details' and 'Remove'. At the bottom of the 'Extensions' page, the 'Open Chrome Web Store' link is highlighted in yellow.

Adding uBlock Origin Extension

The image shows a sequence of steps to add the uBlock Origin extension to a Chrome browser. It starts with a search for 'uBlock Origin' in the Chrome Web Store. The search results show the extension's icon, name, 'Featured' status, a brief description, and a 5-star rating with 25,949 reviews. The next step shows the extension's detail page, which includes the same information and a prominent 'Add to Chrome' button. The browser's address bar at the bottom shows the URL 'businessinsider.com' and the extension is visible in the toolbar.
